JOURNEY BEFORE THE COLLECTIVE

In November 2021, Caroline literally lost her voice. Six weeks of trying teas and medicines, still she was sick. Finally one doctor asked about her stress levels. Teaching high school English was taking a toll on her health. Late nights. High-strung parents. Anxious students. She was overwhelmed and exhausted nearing 30 and still making $35,000 per year with a Master's Degree. For half of 2022, she soul-searched and job searched, with nothing meeting the mark. Something was missing. Finally she goggled "great jobs for burnt out teachers." After joining the Collective I'm on my way to owning a six-figure business in year one. I design my schedule. I learn something new everyday. And I haven't lost my voice once.
